President Asks for 100 Million to Help Feed Europe.

President Wilson's first legislative recommendation based on his study of conditions in Europe looks to the relief of distressed populations "on the side of Germany" which are threatened with starvation.

His request for an immediate appropriation of $100,000,000 to supply food for liberated people of Austria, Turkey, Poland and Western Russia who have no organized governments and are unable to finance international obligations, was transmitted to Congress by Secretary Glass on cabinet instructions from the president. Mr. Glass went personally to the capital for a long conference with democratic leaders of the House and Senate to carry out the president's recommendations will be introduced by them after conferring with Republican leaders.

The president's message said that food shipments worth $1,000,000,000 must be made from the United States to Europe in the next seven months. An international organization, directed by Herbert C. Hoover, will supervise the distribution of the supplies, most of which will be paid for by persons able to find the necessary resources. The appropriation requested by the president will take care of the population in other districts, notably in eastern and southern Europe which have been ravaged by the war.

LETTER FROM BELGIUM.

In a letter to home folks, Benj. Johnson, of Cayce, writes from Belgium, December 14th, in part as follows: "Today has been declared 'Dad's Xmas letter day' over here, the censorship has been lifted a bit, also, and we can now tell where we are and on what fronts we have been. We are now located at Belgium near Boufflers in Belgium, have been in Belgium for about a month, only two American divisions were sent up here and our division happened to be one of them.

"When we came over we stopped in England for a few days, from Southampton we landed at LeHarve, France and after a few days rest there went into training at Villages southeast of Paris. After training there a month or so we started on a general tour of Northern France, but each move brought us nearer the line, Sept. 26th at 2 a. m. the first started its first attack in the Argonne Forest north of Verdun. We were on the front three days before we were relieved. The crack Prussian Guard troops were against us there and put up a hard fight. During the three days there I worked from the division post of command as lieutenant and 'trouble shooter' on the phone line. It was anything but pleasant work at times, as we were continually under shell fire. We were near the town of Mont Fumeon, that the 'Sturs and Stripes' spoke of so much. It was the first day after coming back from the front that we ran across some of Hubert's Battery. They relieved the division on our left, but at that time were already up front. The First Division was among the first in the light over there, but said that was the hardest fighting they had run across. We were only given a few days rest and were moved over here. We came by the 40th division or 8th division (40 men or 8 horses) route and were a couple of days on the line. The division was on the front three days, up here and had just gone in again when the armistice was signed. I was transferred to the division postoffice just after we came back from the Argonne front, so did not see any action up here. We came through the town of Ypres on the way up here. The old front along there certainly has had some hard fighting.

"The first division, or the one the boys are with is one of the divisions of occupation, so they will get to see German soil.

"The great topic now is 'when are we going home,' but don't think it will be long before we will be on the way."

EXPLAIN IT.

Interesting Coincidence in Figures as Regards Ruling Powers.

Eleven has supplanted thirteen as a Jewish day for Germany. Here is the proof.

The arithmetic took effect on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, making an eleventh hour surrender by the Germans. And the eleventh verse in the eleventh chapter of the eleventh book in the Bible contributes further, to wit: "Wherefore the Lord said unto Solomon. Forasmuch as this is day of three and thou hast not kept my covenant and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, I will surely rend thy kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servants."

But that isn't all! You lovers of mystery please explain the coincidence that figures showing the birth, taking of office, length of time in office and age of the heads of America, France, England, Italy, Russia, Belgium, Japan and Serbia each total 11836. Here are the figures:

EX-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DIED MONDAY.

© BY UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD N.Y. THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Col. Theodore Roosevelt died in his sleep at 4:15 o'clock Monday morning. No one was in the room but his valet, his wife and the servants being in their rooms.

The following statement was made by Dr. G. W. Fuller, of Oyster Bay, the physician who last saw the Colonel: "Col. Roosevelt retired at 12 o'clock feeling much better. At 4:15 o'clock Monday morning he simply ceased to breathe. Death was caused probably by a pulmonary embolism."

This pulmonary embolism, Dr. Fuller explained, is a blood clot upon one of the arteries of the lungs.

At midnight he retired. Mrs. Roosevelt sat with him for a while, then as he fell asleep she went to her own room. At 4:15 a. m. the man servant became alarmed and called the nurse. It was found that Roosevelt was dead.

Mrs. Roosevelt was called and Dr. Fuller arrived a few minutes later. Roosevelt lay as if sleeping, just as he was when his wife stepped out of the room.

The nurse was at the house because Roosevelt was suffering from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, in his right hand, which developed last Wednesday.

Col. Roosevelt returned home on Christmas Day from Roosevelt Hospital, where he had been in some time from seclusion.

He had undergone an operation at the hospital and was virtually deaf as a result of it.

Immediately after his death, his son, Archie Roosevelt, who was in Boston, was summoned and he started for home at once.

The house at Sagamore Hill was closed and no one permitted to enter the grounds after the Colonel died.

Col. Roosevelt was 69 years old. He was born in New York, October 27th, 1858. He was the twenty-sixth president of the United States, having succeeded to the presidency on the death of William McKinley, who was shot and killed at Buffalo, N. Y. His health had not been very good for some time.

The life of the former president forms one of the most striking chapters in American history. Loved and admired in some quarters, he incurred the enmity of many prominent men and his later life was filled with strife. It was popularly believed by many that Roosevelt would make an effort to become president again at the next national election, although no expression of any kind on the subject had come from him.

Government supervision of stock promotion prospectuses, to insure completeness and accuracy of their statements, is provided for in Federal "blue sky" legislation drafted by the Capital Issues Committee.

Fulton county increased her Red Cross membership this year 695 over last year's enrollment.

YOUNG LADY DIES.

Mrs. H. J. Werner, of Centralia, Ill., Dies While Visiting Here.

A sad death, indeed, was that of Mrs. H. J. Werner, who died at the home of her father-in-law, Chas. Werner, four miles south of Hickman, at 7:40 o'clock Saturday morning. Tubercula and pneumonia, with other complications, was the cause of death. Mrs. Werner, husband and five-year old son, were here from Centralia, Ill., visiting relatives and friends, and were planning to return home when she became ill. In fact, her illness started December 21st.

Deceased was born near Hickman, Oct. 8, 1885, and was a daughter of Page. She was united in marriage with H. J. Werner on Nov. 25, 1908. One child blessed their union. The couple left Hickman for Centralia, Ill. something over a year ago, at which place they have continued to make their home.

Besides her husband and son, she is survived by the following brothers: Lee Page, of Hickman; Tom Page, of Louisville; Joe M. Page, in the army; and the following sisters: Lucy Martin, Martha Page and Mary Crawford, of Kevill, Ky.

Mrs. Werner was a noble young woman and her untimely death is a matter of deep regret to a large circle of friends. She had been a member of Sacred Heart Catholic church for a number of years and was a most devout woman.

Funeral and burial occurred in this city Monday morning. Funeral services conducted by Father O'Sullivan, were held at the church, where a large number of friends and acquaintances gathered to pay their last respects to her memory. The body was laid to rest at the city cemetery.

The sorrow of her death is hard to bear and the bereaved ones have the genuine sympathy of all.

SHOULD CUT ACREAGE.

Overproduction of cotton in 1919 is the greatest danger that faces the south and overproduction is certain to result unless planters have a change of mind between now and spring. In the opinion of Dr. E. R. Lloyd, of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce bureau of farm development.

"High prices and the absence of boll weevil for two years have combined to stampede planters to cotton," Dr. Lloyd said. "All through the delta planters are planning to increase their cotton acreage this year."

AGAINST SINKING SHIPS.

Secretary Daniels expressed himself as being personally opposed to sinking surrendered German warships. He thought Rear Admiral Rodman, who told the House naval committee he favored sending the German captured ships to the bottom, meant only the older types. Even these, the secretary said, might be used like the old American battleships Iowa, Massachusetts and Indiana as training ships and if no other use were found they might serve as targets to test new guns. With the world short of tonnage they might also be pressed into emergency service as freighters.

DOWN TO ZERO FRIDAY.

The coldest weather of the winter in Hickman was last Friday morning, when the mercury crawled down to zero. A light snow fell here Sunday, with warmer weather again following. In the meantime the north and west suffered blizzards and unusually low temperatures during the week-end.

One of the pioneer citizens of Union City and one who had been associated in public and business life of Union City for half a century almost, Henry Moffett, died Monday afternoon, December 30th.

BIGGEST NAVY.

Program Meets Opposition in Senate, Would Burden Taxpayer.

Secretary Daniels' "biggest navy" programme has aroused hostility in the Senate. Within a short time the attack, now brewing, will be delivered publicly. Notice will be given that the $200,000,000 three-year naval building programme must be revised before it passes the Senate.

Criticism of Daniels' programme is based on the charge that it is extravagant; that it casts doubt upon the good faith of our allies in the great war and that it constitutes a great injustice to the American taxpayer.

Much emphasis is to be laid on the second point, opponents of the "biggest navy" plan will argue that the position of the United States is singularly inconsistent with the idealism which President Wilson is preaching in Europe. This government will throw itself open to suspicion if it, on one hand, contends for a formation of an international league to prevent war, and at the same time, embarks upon a naval programme which the hostile senators say is likely to be war provoking.

England, France and Japan, these senators say, are the only powers that can seriously dispute America's naval power. They will ask whether the United States cannot, in peace time, trust those nations with which it was allied in war time.

The injustice to the American taxpayer, it will be declared, lies in the fact that, after being called on to pay a huge war bill, they must continue to contribute huge sums for war preparations in peace time.

MUST BE RECORDED.

Every sale by a druggist or storekeeper of paregoric, Bateman's drops, soothing syrups or cordials containing narcotic drugs in quantities too low to make them subject to the Harrison drug act, would have to be registered as the sales of poisons are now recorded, according to a provision of the new revenue bill which the internal revenue bureau is preparing to enforce. Dealers' records would have to show the name of the purchaser, the date, quantity bought and purpose.

390 HIGH SCHOOLS.

During the last year the number of white high schools in Kentucky has increased twenty. Prof. McHenry Woods, superintendent of high schools stated in his annual report.

There are now 390 high schools with an enrollment of 21,707, an increase of 2,129, and a decrease of 148 in the teaching force, which now numbers 1,140.

The average attendance is sixty for the 390 schools.

150 MILLIONS SHORT.

The government's loss in operating the railroads in 1918 is calculated by railroad administration officials at less than $150,000,000. This represents the difference between the aggregate amount the government will be compelled to pay railroad companies as rental for the use of their properties—the so-called guaranteed return—and the net income which the government will receive from the railroads.

41 FEET IN SIGHT.

River Continues to Rise Slowly; on Stand by Sunday.

The river has reached a stage of approximately 40 feet at Cairo today and will continue to rise until the end of the week, with at least 41 feet in sight, according to the forecast. This is based on the present weather. Should it turn warm and rain start, an even higher stage would be inevitable.

Five Chief Poles have already closed the flood gates in the city levee, preventing West Nile virus and an unusual rise in the water level on an account of the present rise.

Hundreds of acres of land along the river are already inundated and the situation is becoming serious. It is possible that the water will be so high that the levee will be forced to give way. The water is now in the fields where the wheat is growing. Farmers are not at all sure that they have been quick to secure help in gathering their crops. It is now too late.

FOR GIRLS.

Old-Fashioned Calico and Cretonne Is Being Used to Good Advantage for Girls' Apparel.

Frocks and the most interesting little aprons for little girls are being shown in the shops developed in old-fashioned calico and cretonne. Dresses for the older generation were shown in calico some time ago, but it seems a material which is particularly well suited to the small girl because of its strength and the brilliant colors in which it appears. One dress, for example, is shown in bright yellow with a red dot. The round neck is bound with plain red and finished with a stiff pump bow, several of which are set in a row down the side of the blouse. There is no other trimming.

An odd frock also in calico appears in a deep shade of blue figured in white. It has a full skirt and a little white ruffled sleeveless jumper bound with the calico, is decorated with little old-fashioned ladies cut out and appliqued on.

The figured voile dress is the big seller at present and all sorts of beautiful models in organdie are coming in for a great deal of attention.

The newest thing shown in this fair is a frock for a very little girl. It is of white organdie with a wide round collar and turned back cuffs of the same material in lavender, handkerchief attached in royal purple, and tied with pretty little bows of purple ribbon—Nugent's.

SILK JERSEY FOR SUMMER

It is a wise woman who provides herself with a suit similar to this silk jersey and duvetyne. The skirt and short jacket are of Mediterranean blue silk jersey. The collar, plastron front, cuffs and belt are of putty-colored duvetyne. A buckle fastens the belt.

IN FASHION LAND.

Percalé frocks are fashionable. Parols have large polka dots. Small birds appear on sailor hats. The new ribbons are very elaborate. Navy blue serge is smartly combined with blue tulle.

As the season advances more large hats are noticed.

Silk jersey skirts are among the prettiest of the season.

When you choose your percalé dress choose a dotted one.

Poney coats are in high favor for the summer suit of silk.

Braided black satin gowns always have a certain distinction.

A gray silk frock is made attractive with a girle of green.

Low heels for women's shoes are more and more in demand.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Interesting School Items by Miss Virginia Laten, Co. Supt.

Mr. Noah Parsons, Superintendent of the Carroll county schools, came down to visit our consolidated schools this week. They are making some consolidation in that county and Mr. Parsons is getting some data from our schools of the state. In comparing our consolidated schools with the other schools from which they were formed a few years ago we find from the records that the attendance is better, more pupils finish one school grade, more pupils attend high school, better qualified and better paid teachers with fewer changes each year are secured, and the school term is lengthened. Observation shows us that there is a greater school spirit and community pride existing in our four-room schools that did not exist in the old one-room schools and that the greater advantages offered the school children are enabling them to complete the common school course at an earlier age. These better advantages educationally are costing the parents a little more in dollars and cents through the local tax but when we consider the returns the children are getting after several years of close observation the writer is convinced that it is one of our very best investments.

The F. S. Boys' Working Reserve is being organized for this year. Boys between the ages of 16 and 21 will be enrolled at all our high schools January 20, 1919. See your high school principal for further instruction.

Reaper school has not yet reopened on account of the illness of the teacher, Miss Lee E. Lowe. She hopes to be able to return in a short time.

The county superintendents of the State will have a conference at Longville next week. Hence the office will be closed after Monday for the remainder of the week.

"SHOT" KIDDIES.

Health Officers Administer Mayo Serum to School Children.

Health Officers J. A. Phelps and J. M. Hubbard visited the public schools of Hickman yesterday to give the children the Mayo serum to immunize them against the Spanish influenza. Bands had previously been sent to parents to sign giving their consent to give their children the treatment. Unfortunately a large number of folks failed to respond to the request, and only those, 39 in all, whose parents authorized it, were given the inoculation.

This treatment is endorsed by the United States Health authorities, as well as the noted Mayo Bros., who experimented with it on 100,000 persons and never lost a case by which where the serum had been used. It can do no harm, even should it fail to do good. The treatment consists of "three shots" given one week apart, and health officers are administering it to school children free of charge.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Services in Court House.

Be present at 9:45 for Sunday school and enter the contest which will close March 25th with a big banquet in the basement of the new church. The men and boys are arrayed against the women and girls, with the understanding that the losing side prepares and serves the banquet. The expenses will be paid from a special fund. One present on fine counts 5 points. Late counts 3. New pupils 10, and the side having the largest offering each Sunday receives 25 points extra. If you do not attend Sunday school we invite you to join the contest and share the fellowship.

Preaching follows at 10:30 o'clock, and the subject will be, "Did the young Prince make a mistake?" Night service at 7 o'clock.

Please note the change in the time of worship as it is thirty minutes earlier, and we dismiss at 11:30.

On January 26th Geo. L. Snively, of Lewiston, Ill., will conduct the morning service. At 9:30 he will give an illustrated address that will be highly interesting to the children and profitable to older ones as well. At 10:30 his subject will be, "A Soldier's Farewell," and at night, "Unseen but Real." Our new church will be dedicated Sunday, February 2nd, Bro. Snively being the speaker of the day.—E. L. Miley, Pastor.

BIG INCREASE.

County Valuation is Advanced Around Two Million Dollars.

According to the reapportionment records in the county clerk's office, the total assessed valuation of Fulton county property under the last assessment has been increased close to two million dollars.

In 1917 the valuation was $8,522,821.

In 1918 the total was $8,729,496.

Increase $206,675.

The county clerk taking into consideration state taxes at the rate of five per cent, will accordingly realize quite a saving when next year's taxes are levied.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Economy makes money homes and sound incomes. Invest it deep.

The common secret of want of success in life is a tendency to let things drift.

The food of the home is not meat and bread, but thoughtfulness and unselfishness, for those keep joy alive.

What is wanted in society everywhere is the generous temper which seeks the good in human nature and refuses to think the worst.

Evil passions are poisons. Hatred for another wreaks its worst vengeance upon self; suspicion and jealousy work out their own prophecies by injuring mind and body.

Poetry is imaginative passion. The quickest and subtlest test of the possession of its essence is in expression; the variety of things to be expressed shows the amount of its resources.

Life is a process of giving and taking. Whoso would have full life must give liberally of his store to others; he must also receive from others in return. There must be a constant interchange.

Holland's Caribbean Island

Principal Street of Willemstad.

A LITTLE bit of Holland transplanted in the Caribbean is Curacao, a Dutch island that is but 40 miles from the northern coast of Venezuela and only a little more than 100 miles from La Guayra, port town for Caracas, capital of Venezuela. No other island of the West Indies so nearly resembles, by its physical appearance and its people, the country of the Zuyder Zee as does this quaint, pretty and very hospitable little island, chief possession of the Dutch in the Caribbean.

The sea comes into Willemstad, port city of Curacao, to form a sheltered harbor, and here the West Indies, "the harbor of the West Indies," is a safe haven for ships of all nations.

The sea comes into Willemstad, port city of Curacao, to form a sheltered harbor, and here the West Indies, "the harbor of the West Indies," is a safe haven for ships of all nations.

"Dutch" appearance, and the entrance to the harbor. A bridge spans the narrow channel just above the forts, and is swung back for ships coming in or going out, to leave the way clear.

About the town of Willemstad itself there is a charming influence which immediately wins the stranger, so much like the mother country is this little port. The architecture is Dutch; the buildings themselves might have been brought bodily from Amsterdam, so much do they resemble the physical features of that Dutch city. The town is built down to the water front on both sides of the main inlet of the harbor as well as along the lagoon.

Just above the forts and on the right side as a ship enters, stands the governor's home and the general government buildings, a pleasing sight. Extending along the same side and also running along the opposite shore are the business houses, which stand but a few feet back from the water itself.

Entering the Harbor.

As the ship drifts toward its dock a passenger may get a good view of the town. The architecture fascinates; the busy condition of the dock and adjoining streets, where hundreds of people seem to swarm at their work, gives an impression of a bustling, and much alive tropical town. As the ship goes on past a break in the line of buildings the lagoon is observed to the right, and down to its edge hundreds of homes whose roofs appear in varied contrast under the sun. These homes, the passenger will soon learn, if he chooses to hire an automobile at $2 an hour to ride about the town, are ideal in cleanliness.

Many ships are always to be found in the Willemstad harbor. Even during the war there usually are three or four steamers at dock in addition to many one, two and three-masted sailing schooners, which ply between Curacao and ports of Venezuela. Because of these ships and for the reason that many business houses are down at the edge of the water, Willemstad gives an immediate impression of much bustle and activity.

The business places themselves, even with ships absent, would contribute much toward making this same impression. And, due to these scenes at the dock, during the hours of regular business, the passenger, even though he never leaves his ship, always carries away a picture of this little town that he never will forget.

Back among the homes that border upon the water of the lagoon is to be found "Spotless Town," if anywhere in the world outside of Holland such a town exists. These homes, with their Dutch architecture, are as free from dirt and other things that detract from good looks and comfort as any homes can be.

The kitchens are spick and span, with floors scrubbed white and corners entirely free from dirt. The living rooms, the bedrooms, the dining rooms—all are ideal in cleanliness.

Most of the Population Colored. Curacao has a population of nearly 50,000. Of this number 12,000 are whites, the other inhabitants being black and a mixture of West Indian, negro and Spanish blood. In Curacao there, apparently is more pure West Indian and negro blood than in any of the other islands of the West Indian archipelago.

The negroes themselves are a pleasant, amiable race in Curacao, seeming to have felt the influence of the thrifty Dutch for many years.

Dutch is the official language of the island, of course, though English is mostly spoken. The native speak Dutch and English slightly and have a peculiar mixture of French, Spanish, Dutch and English that is their own dialect. The language is very much mixed and never learned, except by those who have been to school.

The Dutch government maintains 200 soldiers from Holland and an equal number of native militia at Willemstad. This force acts under the command of the governor and is for service in all parts of the island. The peaceful nature of the islanders, however, seems to make the maintenance of this force a needless expense.

Outside of Willemstad itself there is little to interest anyone. The island reaches a small rainfall. Luckily for the inhabitants, Willemstad is a free port, and they therefore are able to import rum, rum and goods without having to pay much more for them than cost at their point of origin.

ARABIA'S PLACE ON THE MAP

"Cradle of Islam" of Great Importance in the Aspirations of Warring Countries.

At the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers—a hundred miles from the Persian gulf—is the town of Gurna. The few tourists who in antebellum days sailed past Gurna were told to look with reverence at the spot, for here was the original Garden of Eden, writes John Van Dyke in Asia Magazine. In December, 1914, the British took Gurna and for some time, at least, for the first time, Arabia was put on the map.

The advance which British arms have made in the land of the Arab is important in proportion as the Germans regarded Arabia as important. Arabia looms large on the Teutonic horizon because it is the door to "Mittel-Asien," and because it is the cradle of Islam. Since Islam is professed by the majority of the population in Turkey and 3,000,000 of Indians and 20,000,000 of Russians and 24,000,000 in the East Indies and 12,000,000 in Egypt and 8,000,000 in China—Islam was considered worthy of an attempt at wedlock, holy or unholy. If you look at the map of the Mediterranean you will see that Cyrus seems to have a great finger which points just to where Asia Minor bends down sharply to form the Syrian coast. Napoleon noticed this more than a hundred years ago and suggested that there lay the key to any situation which would involve that part of the world. Follow the finger and it is significant that the objective of the British Palestine and Mesopotamian campaign was Aleppo. Thence draw the line across and you draw with almost uncanny accuracy the northern linguistic boundary of Arabia.

COUNCIL MEETS.

Plan Reforms in Handling of the City Business.

The city fathers held their regular monthly meeting last Monday evening. Their time seems to have been devoted principally to a discussion of how best to untangle the threads of city business and try to get on a business basis. To the public this seems to be a fine and timely topic. There is no one denying the fact that considerable criticism is being heard regarding some departments of city affairs. While the present administration has managed to cut off about $4,000 of the old debt passed to it by former councils and at the same time most efficient. If there still seems to be some in the case of the financial whiff, too many unbusinesslike methods, not enough businesslike methods. An example would be the fact that the city could not assess these years ago—assessors' books, but neither the convicted nor bondsmen have ever paid a cent. In all, there would probably aggregate hundreds of dollars. A city in the financial straits that Hickman is in needs to collect every dollar owing to it and then some. Until there is some change in business methods, we will continue to have tax-payers' money in the hands of a few men, and a rather small group of those attending to the city business. Here is a task. Who has got the money and a good and collectible bond, or put the bond to work on the streets? We can afford to loan a man for a day's work and we are paying others who could not get it. Obviously, the streets need it. There is also no order, and it is repeated, repeating that every man thing shall be reported together with the amount and the of taxes to the council and then paid. But it hasn't been done in years. These things which other things need attention, and the public will be glad to hear the city officials talking of turning over a new leaf for the New Year.

A SERIOUS BUSINESS.

A Dutch engagement and marriage is a serious affair—quite enough to check all tendencies to flirting in that country.

It lasts from two to five years, during which time the engaged pair are practically inseparable at all social gatherings.

The young lady must not go to any party at which her betrothed will not be present, neither may she go to dances if he disapproves of that amusement; and if he permits her presence, she may not dance with any man who has not first formally asked his consent.

Both she and her intended husband wear engagement rings—plain bands of gold, with the initials and the date engraved inside.

These are worn on the left hand before marriage, and on the right afterwards.

In Holland it is considered a great disgrace to both parties if an engagement is broken off.

THE COURIER'S "TYPESETTING" MACHINE.

We note that several of our contemporaries are installing and printing pictures of their new type-setting (properly speaking type-casting) machines, which makes the type from which the papers are printed. Above we give a drawing of the machine which the Courier installed last year. This is the latest word in linotypes—and no paper in Kentucky, outside of Louisville, has a better or more modern machine. Even the city dailies do not use as expensive machines, for the reason their work requires only one style of type, while the Courier's machine will produce five different kinds; and with additional mats (models), hundreds of varieties. With this machine one operator can "set" as much type as four good hand compositors.

The machine is called a linotype. It was thus named from the work produced "line-of-type," as the type comes from the machine in whole lines. It is the most complicated piece of machinery made—barreling now—and has close to 5,000 component parts—that many pieces of which no two are alike. The use of this machine gives us brand new type for each paper; after it is printed the type is melted—and thus it goes over and over. The Courier has the only linotype in West Kentucky with an electric melting pot, and by an ingenious automatic arrangement, the metal is kept at exactly the right working temperature—550 degrees. The wonderful construction and operation of this machine must be seen to be appreciated—and our readers and friends are cordially invited to call and see it. It is in operation every day except Fridays and Saturdays.

Obviously, the linotype enables us to give you a much better paper each week than we could do under the old methods which prevailed in the office when the present management took charge over twelve years ago. All type was then set by hand—a tedious, slow and unsatisfactory method—but the Courier blazed the trail by putting in a $20,000 Junior linotype, which was successfully operated for seven years, but which is now obsolete. We will not tell you what the new machine, a Model B, cost, but suffice to say it cost twice what the whole Courier plant was worth in 1906.

Mayor F. L. Pittman, this city, is in receipt of a letter from Capt. F. M. Bartlett, stating that plans are being made to chart and map out the entire country for the purpose of transcontinental air routes, and asking Mr. Pittman for information regarding the size and location of the landing field here.—Union City Commercial.

Faris Nalfeh, wife and four of their five children, Mr. Nalfeh's mother, and Alex Nalfeh and wife are all reported down at the home of Faris Nalfeh with the flu. Miss Lillian Neighbors is nursing the family. Several members of the family are quite ill. W. C. Porter spent Sunday with relatives and friends at Clinton.

MILK IN WINTER.

Why do your cows give less milk in winter than they do in summer? Just because nature does not supply them with grasses and green food. But we have come to the assistance of Dame Nature with B. A.
